of Scott's home, and there the assault was committed.

The negroes notified the police, but when the officers arrived the five men had disappeared. One arrest, that of Joseph Winfred, of No. $25 Clayton road, was made in connection with the case. Winfred admitted having been near by when the assault occurred, and said he heard the girl's satteries, but denied that he was implicated in the crime.

Winfred was identified by Ford Scott as one of the five men but was red recorded.

which directly rhowed the husband was guilty of the crime charged in the indict then, to wit, that he shot at the prosecu-trix. We think most clearly not. The law assumes that a husband will not commit a crime in the presence of his wife, except in the confidence induced by the marital re-bation. It is the puller in the confidence induced by the marital re-lation. It is the policy of the law that those things which are privileged during the marriage relation shall remain forever inviolable, whether the relation has ceased by reason of death or divorce, and the divorced wife from reasons of public policy is incompetent to testify against her hus-band to the same extent she would have been hold the marriage relation never been dissolved."

Baroness von Ketteler Going to Deserted by Assistant, He Worked Day and Night at His Post

Till Utterly Exhausted.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL

New York, Nov. 12.-Ole Anderson, the keeper of the Orient light on Plum Island, Ledyard of the Michigan Central Railroad, in Long Island Sound, has proved himself a hero. Deserted by his assistant, alone and unaided, he tended the light for ten days, working night and day during that long stretch. His provisions ran short, and to his suf-polyment pangs of hunger. He was almost fainting from weakness when help came to him yesterday. reached Detroit she was so prostrated that and rowed ashore one week ago last day. He has not been seen since and no trace of him or of the boat has been found.

To keep the lights burning required the entire attention of one man during the night, and it was a day's work to prepare them for lighting. By taking turns the we men had managed to get sufficient rest. When Riordan deserted the entire work fell on Anderson. He manfully shouldered the task, for he had no other choice. He knew, too, that a severe penalty was attached to the willful desertion of a lighthouse, but it was not fear of the law that impelled the faithful keeper. He realized that on him depended the safety of the numerous vessels passing all along the Sound, and he stuck to his work until exhaustion caused him to stagger as he made his When his provisions ran short he reversed he American flag and hoisted it over the lighthouse, but none of the passing vessels ook the least notice of it. It was not until Sunday afternoon that . farmer strolling along the beach of the mainland saw the flag with the union down. He procured a boat and rowed to the lighthouse. Anderson, when he saw him coming, fell on his knees in thanksgiving. Two men were sent with provisions some time later, and after Anderson had instructed them in the care of the lights he fell into a sound slumber. What became of Riordan is a complete mystery, but it is feared that he was The Best Prescription for Malaria, Chilis and Fever is a bottle of Grove's Tasteless Chili Tonic. It is simply iron and quinine in a tasteless form. No cure—no pay. Price 50s.

POSTPONED BY GRIGGS. Porto Rican and Philippine Cases

Go Over to December 17. Washington, Nov. 12.-The United States Supreme Court to-day postponed the argument in what are known as the Porto Rice and Philippine cases until December 17. and Philippine cases until December II.

The cases are entitled, in one instance, "J. H. Goetz vs. the United States," which throvelves the right to collect a duty on goods imported from Porto Rico into the United States after the peace treaty with Spain went into effect, and "Fourteen Diamond Rings as the United States." In this latter case, Emil J. Pepke, a United States soldier, is the claimant of the rings, and he is accused of smuggling them into the United States from the Philippine Islands. The postponement was made at the instance of Attorney General Griggs, and the object is to have other cases involving cognate questions now pending in the United States Circuit Court argued in the Supreme Court together with these two cases. In their broad significance these cases involve the question whether Porto Rico and the Philippines are part of the United States and are, as such, entitled to free commercial intercourse with it.
